Other Eligibility

You may be eligible for free legal help through Judicare Legal Aid's Indian Law Office if you:

- Live in Wisconsin
- Are an enrolled member of a Native American tribe AND
- Meet limits on the value of your property and have low income, defined as a percentage (<125%) of the federal poverty guidelines.*

*Members of the Ho-Chunk nation are eligible for services with income up to 200% of the federal poverty level

Please note: certain projects do not have income or asset limits for eligibility. Furthermore, there are many factors that contribute to the calculation of household income and eligibility, so please apply even if you may be above these guidelines. Apply to see if you are eligible.

Native American applicants who live in WI but outside of Judicare's 33-county service area and are not members of the Ho-Chunk Nation are generally only eligible for services involving Indian law issues. Indian law issues involve the tribe as a whole, not a legal matter for an individual person.
